DYNEX CAPITAL, INC. REPORTS FOURTH QUARTER AND 2020 FULL YEAR RESULTS Total economic return for 2020 of 15.2% driven by book value growth

GLEN ALLEN, Va. -- Dynex Capital, Inc. (NYSE: DX) reported its fourth quarter and 2020 full year results today. Management will host a call today at 10:00 a.m. Eastern Time to discuss the results and business outlook. Details to access the call can be found below under "Earnings Conference Call".

Management Remarks

"I am very proud to report that in 2020 we delivered a 15.2% total economic return and a 17.0% total shareholder return," commented Byron L. Boston, Chief Executive Officer. "I have been at Dynex for 13 years, and no other year has demanded as much active decision-making as 2020. We made money for our shareholders as our book value increased and we delivered a solid dividend. Our industry-leading performance stands in sharp contrast to many other investment alternatives for investors seeking income."

Mr. Boston continued, "At Dynex Capital, we have a distinct philosophy of how we manage for the long-term and that same philosophy is guiding our investment approach today. We believe in risk management first followed by disciplined capital allocation. This philosophy, combined with our experience, gave us the edge to actively manage our portfolio in order to provide our shareholders strong returns. Our 2020 performance reflects years of experience in thoughtful planning by a skilled team of people ready to act, particularly in volatile times. As we look towards the rest of 2021, we believe the broader investment environment remains favorable with financing costs anchored well into 2022 and beyond. We believe there is significant upside in our balance sheet earnings power with flexibility to generate solid economic returns."

2020 Financial Performance Highlights

Other Highlights

- Maintained a diversified investment portfolio while continuing to shift to lower coupon Agency RMBS
- Realized a gain of $9.4 million primarily from sales of higher coupon Agency RMBS
- Added $750.0 million in interest rate swaptions to better mitigate interest rate volatility and convexity risk over a longer term to replace expiring or terminated U.S. Treasury options
- Subsequent to the end of 2020, issued 3.2 million shares of common stock through an underwritten public offering for gross proceeds of approximately $56.5 million before underwriting discounts and commissions and offering expenses, and announced the intent to redeem the remaining 2.8 shares of outstanding 7.625% Series B Preferred Stock on February 15, 2021

2020 Results Discussion

The Company's increase of $1.07 in book value per common share during 2020 was largely the result of a $214.5 million increase in the fair value of its MBS, which was driven primarily by credit spread tightening across all asset classes, but particularly in lower coupon RMBS. The Company was positioned to benefit from this spread tightening due to active portfolio and risk management, which became especially important during the difficult market conditions experienced in the first quarter of 2020. The increase in fair value of the Company's MBS, which comprised the majority of comprehensive income to common shareholders of $66.5 million for 2020, was partially offset by a net loss on derivative instruments of $(172.3) million during 2020, which consisted mainly of losses incurred in the first quarter of 2020 when the Company terminated the majority of its interest rate swaps. These terminations were due to the Company's significant MBS sales during the first quarter, increased margin requirements by derivative counterparties, and the transition to options and futures to hedge impact of interest rate risk on book value. Losses incurred from hedging instruments were partially offset by the Company's increased investment in TBA securities, which generated net gains of $51.2 million during 2020. The Company increased its investment in TBAs as implied funding costs were lower for TBA dollar roll transactions for most of 2020 versus repurchase agreements the Company typically uses for financing the purchase of specified pools.

For 2020, net interest income increased $7.8 million and net interest spread increased 79 basis points compared to 2019 despite the Company's smaller average balance of investments held during 2020. The increase was driven by lower financing costs as a result of the reduction in the Federal Funds Rate coupled with active management of the terms of the Company's repurchase agreement borrowings. Partially offsetting this increase, general and administrative expenses for 2020 increased $5.1 million compared to the prior year due primarily to changes made in 2020 to the payment structure of the executive compensation program that impact the timing of recognition of expenses and higher overall performance-based bonus compensation from management meeting its corporate goals and expenses. for the year.

Fourth Quarter 2020 Results Discussion

Book value per common share increased $0.83 during the fourth quarter due in part to realized gains on the Company's TBA securities and short positions in U.S. Treasury futures. For the fourth quarter of 2020, the Company's net gain on derivative instruments of $23.9 million comprised the majority of comprehensive income to the common shareholders of $28.7 million, a decline of $(15.7) million from the third quarter of 2020 due primarily to a smaller increase in the fair value of MBS during the fourth quarter of 2020. Asset credit spreads continued to tighten during the fourth quarter, offsetting rising longer-term interest rates. The increase in fair value of MBS was also smaller for the fourth quarter because the Company had sold Agency CMBS with an amortized cost of $382.3 million during the third quarter. As a result of the smaller portfolio, core net operating income declined to $10.5 million for the fourth quarter of 2020 compared to $14.2 million for the prior quarter due to the smaller average balance of assets and modestly declining asset yields, reducing net interest income by $2.3 million. Fourth quarter earnings were also impacted by an increase of $2.1 million in general and administrative expenses resulting primarily from year-end incentive compensation reflecting a catch-up adjustment for accrued performance-based bonuses for management's achievement of its corporate goals and objectives based on final results of the Company for the year.

Earnings Conference Call

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In addition to the Company's operating results presented in accordance with GAAP, this release includes certain non-GAAP financial measures including core net operating income to common shareholders (including per common share), adjusted net interest income and the related metric adjusted net interest spread. Because these measures are used in the Company's internal analysis of financial and operating performance, management believes that they provide greater transparency to our investors of management's view of our economic performance. Management also believes the presentation of these measures, when analyzed in conjunction with the Company's GAAP operating results, allows investors to more effectively evaluate and compare the performance of the Company to that of its peers, although the Company's presentation of its non-GAAP measures may not be comparable to other similarly-titled measures of other companies. Schedules reconciling core net operating income to common shareholders and adjusted net interest income to GAAP financial measures are provided further below.

Management views core net operating income to common shareholders as an estimate of the Company's investment portfolio performance based on the effective yield of its investments, net of financing costs and other normal recurring operating income/expense, net. In addition to the non-GAAP reconciliation set forth below, which derives core net operating income to common shareholders from GAAP comprehensive income to common shareholders, core net operating income to common shareholders can also be determined by adjusting net interest income to include interest rate swap periodic interest benefit/cost, drop income on TBA dollar roll transactions, general and administrative expenses, and preferred dividends. Drop income generated by TBA dollar roll positions, which is included in "gain (loss) on derivatives instruments, net" on the Company's consolidated statements of comprehensive income, is included in core net operating income and in adjusted net interest income because management views drop income as the economic equivalent of net interest income (interest income less implied financing cost) on the underlying Agency security from trade date to settlement date. Management also includes interest rate swap periodic interest benefit/cost, which is also included in "gain (loss) on derivatives instruments, net", in adjusted net interest income because interest rate swaps are used by the Company to economically hedge the impact of changing interest rates on its borrowing costs from repurchase agreements, and therefore represent a cost of financing in addition to GAAP interest expense. However, these non-GAAP measures do not provide a full perspective on our results of operations, and therefore, their usefulness is limited. For example, these non-GAAP measures do not include gains or losses from available-for-sale investments, changes in fair value of and costs of terminating interest rate swaps, as well as realized and unrealized gains or losses from any instrument used by management to economically hedge the impact of changing interest rates on the fair value of the Company's portfolio and book value per common share. As a result, these non-GAAP measures should be considered as a supplement to, and not as a substitute for, the Company's GAAP results as reported on its consolidated statements of comprehensive income.
